

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0023] Systems and methods for guiding emergency personnel to a location after being in close proximity of the location are described. One embodiment of the method comprises recognizing a situation and activating at least one light source located at a location on recognizing the situation.